Making Good.

There is no way of making lasting friends like "Making Good;" and Doctor Pierce's medicines well exemplify this, and their friends, after more than two decades of popularity, are numbered by the hundreds of thousands. They have "made good" and they have not made drunkards.

A good, honest, square-deal medicine of known composition is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It still enjoys an immense sale, while most of the preparations that have come into prominence in the earlier period of its popularity have "gone by the board" and are never more heard of. There must be some reason for this long-time popularity and that is to be found in its superior merits. When once given a fair trial for weak stomach, or for liver and blood affections, its superior curative qualities are soon manifest; hence it has survived and grown in popular favor, while scores of less meritorious articles have suddenly flashed into favor for a brief period and then been as soon forgotten.

For a torpid liver with its attendant indigestion, dyspepsia, headache, perhaps dizziness, foul breath, nasty coated tongue, with bitter taste, loss of appetite, with distress after eating, nervousness and debility, nothing is so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It's an honest, square-deal medicine with all its ingredients printed on bottle-wrapper—no secret, no hocus-pocus humbug, therefore don't accept a substitute that the dealer may possibly make a little bigger profit. Insist on your right to have what you call for.

Don't buy Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription expecting it to prove a "cure-all." It is only advised for woman's special ailments. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Less advertised than some preparations sold for like purposes, its sterling curative virtues still maintain its position in the front ranks, where it stood over two decades ago. As an invigorating tonic and strengthening nervine it is unequaled. It won't satisfy those who want "booze," for there is not a drop of alcohol in it.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the original Little Liver Pills, although the first pill of their kind in the market, still lead, and when once tried are ever afterwards in favor. Easy to take as candy—one to three a dose. Much imitated but never equaled.

HORRIFIED THE MINISTERS.

Rev. "Billy" Sunday, the evangelist, delivered an address to the Presbyterian ministers of Pittsburg, Pa., yesterday. His words caused consternation among the preachers, some of whom left the First Presbyterian Church, their dignity stung, but most of them remained to the end.

Mr. Sunday, who was a professional baseball player, has been conducting a revival at Sharon, near Pittsburg, and went to Pittsburg to preach on "Why Some Ministers Fail."

He said many of the ministers of the present day were "fudge-eating molly-coddles who were continually springing bull-con to their congregations." Few ministers of today were anything but "stiffs, salary quacks," willing to accept social distinction, and that many of them were qualified candidates for the "funny house." Continuing, he said:

"Some of you ministers are controlled by riches and not by the Bible. Many of you are grafters, pure and simple. You know this, too. There are some of you preaching today that should be carrying the hod."

"What we do want is to tear down the seminaries and stand the professors on their heads in mud puddles. A seminary and its teachings are of no more use to preaching than a crane's legs are to a setting hen."

"I am not an osteopath. I am a surgeon, and my line is to cut out the abscess in the side of the church."

EXCITED WOMEN.

Society women and other women who love dogs, and have been making a strenuous fight to prevent the passage of an ordinance by the Baltimore city council requiring dogs to be muzzled on the streets, stormed the city council committee in the council chamber yesterday afternoon, and finally broke up the meeting. They hissed the councilmen, denounced Mayor Mahool, and raised such a rumpus that the chairman of the committee adjourned the hearing.

The women, a number of whom are prominent in the fashionable set, are members of the Dog Lovers' Association, which has been opposing the passage of stringent laws to keep dogs off the streets. They particularly objected to the muzzling of their pets, declaring it would be another outrage.

Public feeling has been wrought up to a high pitch by the number of children recently bitten by dogs. In several cases rabies have developed. The newspapers demanded the passage of the muzzling ordinance, and at the meeting yesterday afternoon the women berated the press and declared the newspapers should be muzzled instead of the dogs.

Several women became so excited that they drew their hat pins and threatened the councilmen who wanted to muzzle their dogs.

The council last night, however, passed the muzzling ordinance, and the dog champions lost their fight.

Born in Iowa.

Our family were all born and raised in Iowa, and have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy (made at Des Moines) for years. We know how good it is from long experience in the use of it. In fact, when in El Paso, Texas, the writer's life was saved by the prompt use of this remedy. We are now engaged in the mercantile business at Narcoossee, Fla., and have introduced the remedy here. It has proven very successful and is constantly growing in favor.—ENNIS BROS. This remedy is for sale by W. F. Creighton & Co. and Richard Gibson.

CRUSADE AGAINST GOSSIP.

Rev. Mr. MacIlravy, the Little Falls, N. Y., preacher whose campaign against the evil of gossiping has brought him considerable notoriety, has announced that, after considerable experimenting, he had hit upon a plan which he believes will accomplish the silencing of the wagging tongues of the women of Little Falls and vicinity.

He said that in Little Falls there are just twelve fountain heads of gossip, and he said that these twelve might well be matched against all the other gossipers of the county and they would win prizes in contests. In order to curb the loose tongues, Mr. MacIlravy announces that he has decided to set apart one Sunday of the month to squelching gossip.

He will on that day recite the gossip without the names of the victims, but with the names of the gossipers. In this way the public will become acquainted with the twelve gossipers' names, and some who are not far behind.

He says he has taken up gossiping just as others take up temperance, poverty and similar topics for specialties.

ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

TUESDAY EVENING, JUNE 2, 1908

THE corporation commission recently entered an order directing the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad to operate two trains daily from Lexington to Alexandria over the tracks of the Southern. The Baltimore papers are protesting against this, and yesterday a meeting was held in Winchester at which a committee of citizens was appointed to go to Richmond and ask the commission to revoke their order. This is a matter that the Chamber of Commerce of Alexandria should take up at once. The city and State spent thousands upon thousands of dollars in constructing the road from Alexandria to Harrisonburg, from which town the B. & O. extended its line to Lexington, hoping thereby to divert the trade of the rich Valley from Alexandria; a Virginia city, to Baltimore. The people of Alexandria are today paying interest on the money spent in building the Manassas road and her people should do all in their power to protect the city's interests in this matter. Let the Chamber of Commerce act at once.

ONE week from today a democratic primary election will be held in this, the Eighth, district to nominate a candidate for Congress. The only candidates are Mr. C. C. Carlin, the incumbent, and Mr. R. L. Gordon, of Louisa, who was defeated in the primary of last year. Mr. Carlin has served in Congress but six months but during that time he has acquitted himself well and rendered a good account to his constituents. He has given diligent attention to his duties, looking carefully to the interest of his district and State and has done as much for his people as any new member could possibly have done. If a man is to be rewarded for his good works Mr. Carlin should be returned to the House and given a fair trial as a representative. This has been the custom that has held in Virginia and in this district for many years and there is little probability that a change will be made this year.

THE Richmond News Leader, which recently brushed aside all the gubernatorial candidates but its own, is now devoting much of its time and space in a vain attempt to elect Mr. Gordon to Congress from this district. To most people it would appear that the Richmond papers have as much as they can well attend to in managing the political affairs of their own district. The people of the Eighth know whom they want to represent them in Congress.

UNDER the Cumberland, Md., curfew ordinance no children are allowed on the streets of that city between the hours of 9 p. m. and 6 a. m. unless they are accompanied by their parents or guardians. Many are of the opinion that a curfew law would be a good thing for Alexandria. Certainly the number of girls and boys on the streets at night is rapidly increasing and many girls unaccompanied by grown persons are to be seen at late hours.

MR. W. A. LAND, editor of the Blackstone Courier in answer to a letter recently published by Mr. Carter Glass, of Lynchburg, denies any purpose to attack Mr. Glass's character as a private citizen. He will not countenance mudslinging in the gubernatorial campaign, but challenges an attack on the public record of his candidate, Mr. Mann.

URBAN Methodists asked the Methodist general conference to relax the ban upon dancing, cards and the theatre. But the rural vote came in and the prohibition still remains. Habits don't change so fast in the country as in the city, and the force of tradition is stronger.

From Washington.

Washington, D. C., June 2.

Platform makers are busily engaged shaping the planks that they hope will be formally nailed down at Chicago. They began with conferences at Secretary Taft's residence, and at the White House yesterday and continued the work today. It is said that even the nail holes will be drilled here in Washington and only a few formal taps of the convention hammer will be necessary to put the structure together, if Roosevelt and Taft dominate that gathering, as they confidently expects to do. There is some speculation on the outcome of the architect's labor. Everybody, it seems, has a chance to suggest, but the real work is being done at the White House or at Taft's office. The president counts upon seeing that his policies have their share of representation, but Taft will have a few of his own. This is evident from the long consultations with Attorney General Wade Ellis, chief artificer of the Ohio platform. Tariff revision will be specifically advocated, according to those who are in touch with the preliminary discussion. Both the Taft and the Ohio idea advocates favor a special session to be held immediately after Taft's inauguration, if nothing goes amiss. The emergency currency law—the Aldrich-Vreeland act—will be commended but only as an emergency measure. A permanent anti-panic measure will be proposed. Secretary Taft will very likely insert a plank favoring tariff concessions in favoring of the Philippines. As the islands are his particular administrative pet, a platform on which he is to stand would be incomplete without some mention of them at least. The selection of Governor Wright as his successor to the war portfolio may be taken as an indication that the islands would be carefully looked after, even with Taft away from the War Department. The labor vote will be recognized in a "limitation of injunction" plank. The negro vote will have the usual recognition, perhaps a little stronger than usual to offset Senator Foraker's activities. President Roosevelt's policy with reference to a greater navy, and his advocacy of better protection for the Pacific coast will be heartily commended.

One of the problems facing the Treasury Department as a result of the new currency law adopted by Congress, is how to provide storage room for the $500,000,000 worth of new bills authorized by it. It will make a tremendous stack of money when it is all printed and there is no room for it in the Treasury Department, and the only subtreasury where there are any facilities for storage is that in New York. The law requires that the Treasury Department shall print and have on hand bills ready for issuance in the name of all the national banks of the country. As there are 7,000 of these doing business, the mere printing of the bills will keep the Bureau of Engraving and Printing busy all summer. But the law also provides that these new bills shall be kept on hand, not only in Washington but at the various sub-treasuries contiguous to the territory in which are situated the banks proposing to issue the notes. Consequently the department expects it will be compelled to build vaults in which to store the notes at St. Louis, San Francisco, Chicago, Cincinnati, Boston, New Orleans and Washington.

The police and detectives tried to prevent the marriage last night of Alonzo D. Holmes, a negro, and Dorothea Niner, a pretty young white girl. The marriage license was regularly issued but it was learned that the girl was under age. Despite the efforts of the detectives, Holmes and the girl were married and left the city.

Arguments were made today in the trial of Gaston Philip, the wealthy clubman, charged with the murder of Frank Macaboy, a cabman, about a year ago.

Senator Foraker is still to be reckoned with as a presidential candidate, according to his colleague, Senator Dick. "It is not true that Senator Foraker has withdrawn from the race," said Senator Dick, after a brief call upon the president today. "He will be placed in nomination in spite of all reports to the contrary."

Of the 200 members of the Naval Academy class which will graduate June 5, 110 have been ordered to the Atlantic fleet, to make the trip around the world.

Secretary Metcalf today alleged in a complaint filed with the interstate commerce commiesion that the Adams Express Company and the Northern Pacific Express Company have been gouging the government. The Secretary alleges that the express companies last July charged him forty cents a hundred too much on merchandise shipped from Washington, D. C. to the navy yard, at Bremerton, Wn. The amount involved is $15. The complaint is a test case to determine what the rate should be.

TO HEAR VIRGINIA-WEST VIRGINIA CASE.

Representative Charles E. Littlefield, of Maine, was yesterday appointed by the Supreme Court of the United States as a master to take testimony in the debt case of Virginia vs. West Virginia. Mr. Littlefield's name was suggested by counsel for West Virginia. The case involves many million of dollars. Mr. Littlefield, after a long service in the House, recently resigned.

Some years ago a speculator got hold of a considerable amount of West Virginia certificates, and tried to present them to the State of Maine in the hope that it would institute suit against Virginia for payment. It was chiefly on the advice of Senator Hale, of Maine, and Representative Littlefield that the gift was not accepted. They urged that to receive the bonds and bring suit would be unseemly and in violation of that comity between States which should obtain. North Dakota accepted the gift of bonds repudiated by North Carolina, and on suit in the Supreme Court of the United States obtained a judgment

It is said the position will pay about $25,000 a year.

A crowd of four hundred Italian depositors gathered in front of the Banca Gaetano Liotta in Cleveland, O., today when early customers were unable to find the bank's head, Gaetano Liotta. They told the police that they were unable to find Liotta or any of his family.

Workmen yesterday began the destruction of the historic colonnade on the east front of the United States Treasury in Washington. Erected in 1836; the 30 Ionic sandstone columns and elaborate balustrade do not correspond to the granite of the remainder of the building. The difference in the stone grew more marked with the passage of time and an attempt was made to clean the sandstone with a secret formula. Last year Congress made an appropriation of $298,000 for the replacing of the columns with granite, and this is now being done.

DEATH OF SENATOR JONES.

Former Senator James Kimbrough Jones, of Hope Ark., died in Washington at 5:30 yesterday afternoon.

The deceased was born in Marshall county, Miss., on September 29, 1839. His father, a well-to-do planter, settled in Dallas county, in southwestern Arkansas, in 1848, where the son received his education. During the civil war he served as a private soldier in the Confederate army. From 1866 to 1873 he led the quiet and uneventful life of a planter. In 1873 he was admitted to the bar and began the practice of law.

In the same year he was elected to the Arkansas senate, and was re-elected in 1874. In 1877 he was made president of the senate.

In 1873 Mr. Jones was an unsuccessful candidate for the democratic nomination for Congress in his district, but obtained it in 1880 and was elected. He was re-elected in 1882 and 1884. For two years Mr. Jones was one of the most influential members of the committee on ways and means.

On March 4, 1885, he took his seat in the United States Senate as the successor of James D. Walker and in 1890 he obtained re-election practically without opposition.

Mr. Jones was chairman of the democratic national committee during the campaigns of 1896 and 1900. He was chairman of the democratic caucus of the Senate for several years.

During the time Mr. Jones was a member of the United States Senate he was a factor in the councils of his party and one of its dominating influences when the democrats were in control. Although a member of the ways and means committee in the House, where he made a study of tariff and financial matters, it was not until the Fifty-third Congress, in 1893, when the democrats obtained control of the Senate, that Mr. Jones became a member of the committee on finance, on which he served during the remainder of his membership in the Senate.

Prior to the St Louis convention of 1896, at which W. J. Bryan received his first nomination for the presidency, Senator Jones was opposed to his candidacy, and went to the convention a warm supporter of Bland. It was at this convention which Mr. Bryan made his famous "cross of gold speech," and immediately after this oration he was approached by Senator Jones, who promised him his hearty support. Subsequently to this, no firmer supporter of Mr. Bryan could be had.

The first batch of names will go up to court next Monday, and the assigning of them to the roads will follow.

What is considered as an important clue toward solving the mystery surrounding the chapter of robberies committed in Manassas within six months was discovered Friday afternoon, when Harry Johnson, a negro, living in Washington, together with Henry Jones and Herbert Smith, of the same city, were committed to jail by Mayor Sinclair. The three negroes were charged jointly with stealing from a shoemaker's shop. Johnson was also charged with carrying concealed weapons. Mayor Sinclair imposed a sentence of four months each in the county jail upon the first charge and a fine of $50 upon Johnson. No Need of Suffering from Rheumatism

It is a mistake to allow anyone to suffer from rheumatism, as the pain can always be relieved, and in most cases a cure effected by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. The relief from pain which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. It makes sleep and rest possible. Even in cases of long standing this liniment should be used on account of the relief which it affords. Do not be discouraged until you have given it a trial. For sale by W. F. Creighton and Co. and Richard Gibson.

Today's Telegraphic News.

Death of Col. Carter.

[Special Dispatch to the Alexandria Gazette.]

Field Secretary McAllister, of the Virginia Anti-Saloon League, gave out a positive interview denying that the league would ask the Roanoke convention to endorse a resolution for state prohibition.

Congressman Lilley's Defense.

Waterbury, Conn., June 2.—In a lengthy statement made public today Congressman George L. Lilley, who is charged with "wilful falsehood, bad faith and complicity with the Lake Torpedo Boat Company," by the House committee which investigated the submarine boat scandal, defends his actions and declares the stigma placed upon him by his colleagues, "unwarranted, unkind and improper."

Incidentally he charges that Congressman Boutelle, chairman of the committee, tried to have him "called off" through his physician, Dr. E. W. Reinsinger. He includes in his statement a letter the doctor wrote Mrs. Lilley, in which a promise by Boutelle is quoted. It is as follows:

"Mr. Boutelle then proposed to me (Reinsinger) that I talk over the matter with Mr. Lilley, state to him the high opinion of the committee of him personally and tell him that absolutely nothing has been proven, and that I get Mr. Lilley to withdraw the charges in which case everything would end right there."

Lilley insists he could not conscientiously withdraw his charges, as he was convinced they were true. He declared he acted entirely for the public welfare, and positively asserts he did not act with any other person. He acted first, he said, on the initiative of the late Senator Platt of Connecticut and declares the committee's criticisms of his actions was arrived at only after they had "strung together on a chronological thread," certain insignificant and minor incidents. One of these he claims was his telegrams and letters to the secretary of the navy asking for fair play for the Lake Torpedo Boat Company; another was the fact that the Connecticut congressional delegation had been entertained at dinner by the Lake concern, while others were of the "same importance." He closes his statement by declaring that he is conscious that throughout the entire controversy his motives have been honest and he acted in good faith.

Conditions in Panama.

[Copyright 1908 by the United Press Association.]

Panama, June 2.—Never in history has the political situation in this country been at such fever heat, or has contained such possibilities of real danger, as now. Staid, conservative business men—the men of wealth, property and influence—are predicting a revolution, and are demanding the intervention of the United States. Threats of using dynamite on the canal works and to blow up the big Hotel Tivoli, in the canal zone, are freely made. Other deeds of violence are hinted at, the whole object being to compel the United States to step in and see to it that the will of the people is recorded in the presidential election which takes place in the last week of June and the first week of July. Warned of these threats, most extraordinary precautions have been taken by the authorities on the canal works to prevent the stealing of dynamite from their stores. Double guards have been placed over each store house, and every piece of dynamite placed in position in the excavation works preparatory to an explosion is carefully watched. Feeling is running extraordinarily hight, and the thing most devoutly wished by those having the best interests of the Republic at heart, is that the United States shall proceed in Panama as it did in Cuba, by assuming military control of the country.

Killed at a Fire.

New York, June 2.—One woman lost her life, five persons were seriously burned, and a dozen others were rescued by firemen with their clothing ablaze following a fire which gutted a three story fashionable boarding house at 313 west 30th street early today. The fire started in the basement under the stairs, and when discovered exit from the upper stories had been cut off. When the inmates were awakened by the fire and tried to make their way to the street they found the stairs ablaze and the hallways filled with smoke. They rushed to the windows, but were kept from jumping by policemen who shouted to them that help was coming. The police worked their way to the third floor as soon as they arrived with scaling ladders and rescued all but Mrs. Marie Belle Crane, aged 40, a dressmaker who fell to the pavement and was killed.

Death of General Buller.

London, June 2.—Sir Redvers Henry Buller, the famous English general who conducted the operations for the relief of Ladysmith in the Boer war, died today. General Buller had been in failing health for several months. He was 69 years old and had a varied army record, for the most part distinguished. His conduct of the Boer war, however, was such that for a time there was talk of his recall. What the English considered the undue prolongation of this war was charged to Buller. General Buller served in China in 1860 and successfully took part in the Red river expedition, Ashanti, Kaffir, Zulu, Soudan and Boer wars. His relief of Ladysmith, after it had been besieged by the Boers for 118 days, threw England into the greatest paroxysm of joy it ever had known.

Mrs. Hartje Files another Bill.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 2.—Mrs. Mary Scott Hartje filed an additional bill of particulars today against her husband, Augustus J. Hartje, millionaire paper manufacturer, in her pending divorce suit, in which she alleges that she was brutally kicked and beaten by her husband. In the bill Mrs. Hartje charges that while at the the Hotel Cecil, in London, Hartje struck her in the face with his fist and kicked her several times.

The Lusitania's Speed.

London, June 2.—While the Mauretania was breaking trans-Atlantic record on her run to New York, her sister ship, the Lusitania, was breaking her eastbound record. She covered the 2,932 miles in five days, four hours and thirty seven minutes—two hours and forty three minutes better than her previous mark.

The Paris Murder Mystery.

Paris, June 2.—Paris has not had a murder mystery in years that has caused more speculation than the killing of Adolphe Steinheil, the artist, and his mother-in-law, Mme. Japy, in the artist's home in the Rue de Vaugirard at an early hour on Sunday. For once the Paris police seem anxious to accept the theory the most easily upheld—that of murder by robbers. The friends of Steinheil are unanimous in the opinion that the murders were committed either by or at the instigation of some former model. The statements of Madame Steinheil, which were expected to throw much light on the subject, have been so conflicting that until she recovers her complete composure there is little hope of getting a tangible clew from her. Mme. Steinheil has repudiated her first statement that she recognized the woman member of the band as a model once employed by her husband.

The Duke of Abruzzi Turned Down?

Rome, June, 2.—Has the Duke of Abruzzi been turned down in his quest for the hand and fortune of Miss Katherine Elkins? That such is the case was reported by one of the intimate friends of the family today. Color is lent the report by the statement issued as a result of the conference of King Victor Emanuel, the duke's cousin, Dowager Queen Margherita and the duke's brothers. This statement was to the effect that the duke is to spend the coming year with the navy. The real inwardness of this statement, as it comes from an inside source, is to explain the failure of an early marriage, resulting from Miss Elkins' refusal of the duke.

Edward's Visit to Nicholas.

London, July 2.—The approaching visit of King Edward to Emperor Nicholas at Reval, on the gulf of Finland, is believed to be attended by so many dangers, that scores of insurance policies on the king's life are being issued by Lloyds. The insurers, for the most part, are tradesmen and others whose business would suffer should any harm befall the king. Always on the leave-taking of the king there are a few policies of this sort issued, but never before have so many applied for insurance. The visit of the king is considered illtimed by a large part of the English people, and apprehension is felt as to the outcome.

A Determined Suicide.

New York, June 2.—Charles E. Leuch got tired of life today and decided to make a good job of ending it. He got a length of new rope and a .38 calibre revolver and went to his office. He fastened the rope around a beam in the ceiling, made a noose in the end of it and placed it about his neck, meanwhile climbing upon a chair; then he jumped off the chair and almultaneously fired a shot into his brain through his right ear. The noise of the shot brought other occupants of the building to the scene, but Leuch was dead when they arrived.

Sensation in Paris.

Paris, June 2.—A sensation was caused here today in exclusive society circles by the attempt of a Swedish Baron, whose name has so far been kept a secret, to file a breach of promise suit against the wife of Dr. Chance, an American dentist in Paris. Mrs. Chance says she never was engaged to the Baron. She admits they were in each others company a great deal before her marriage, but says that when she became engaged to Dr. Chance she got a written confession from the Baron in which he acknowledged that he had no claim upon her.

Suicide of an Attorney.

New York, June 2.—Anthony V. Porter, aged 69, a well-known local attorney, was found dead in his office today. He had swallowed a quantity of chloroform, the police allege, with suicidal intent. Porter has had an office in the Tribune building since 1866. He served in the federal army throughout the civil war, having been on the staff of General Sherman. He was the senior member of the firm of Porter and Kilbert, whose practice was very large.

Chiefs' Annual Convention.

Detroit, Mich., June 2.—Chiefs of police from all over the country began their annual convention in Detroit today. The feature of the convention will be the election of a president, as Major Richard Sylvester, of Washington, who has been at the head of the organization for years, is opposed by John O. Whitaker, of Dayton, O., and Frank J. Cassada, of Elmira, N. Y. W. A. Pinkerton, head of the detective agency, was among the early arrivals.

The Latonia Derby.

Cincinnati, O., June 2.—Some of the best thoroughbreds in the west are carded to start in the classic Latonia Derby this afternoon, the opening of Latonia's spring meeting. Pinkola, the disappointment at the New Orleans tracks, was the advance post favorite for the event, but Czar, Sir Cleges and Keep Moving, the latter the only filly in the race, are considered the most dangerous contenders. The derby is at a mile and a-half and the winner gets $3,000.

The Iowa Senatorship.

Des Moines, Ia., June 2.—The bitterest State fight in Iowa's political history reached a climax today when the first State wide primary began. The chief issue is the question of endorsement of the long senatorial record of United States Senator Allison, who arrived yesterday to take charge of the battle. Governor A. B. Cummins, who also wants to go to the Senate, climbed in, but professes not to be worried.

The Oregon Senatorship.

Portland, Ore., June 2.—Indications early today confirm the reports of last night that the next United States Senator from Oregon will be a democrat, George Chamberlain. Returns received at headquarters here indicate that Senator Fulton, the present republican incumbent, has been defeated at the popular election by between 10,000 and 11,000.

Northern Pacific went up to 138. Other railroad stocks were strong and advanced from fractions to 2 points.

COURT OF APPEALS.

The court of appeals of Virginia began its summer term at Wytheville today open several important cases are to be heard. One is the famous Norfolk city poll-tax case, which comes before the court on the motion for rehearing the case made by Attorney-General Anderson.

Another case that will attract some attention is the application to be made by Judge J. W. G. Blackstone, of Accomac, for a mandamus to compel Judge C. W. Robinson of Newport News, to surrender his office, alleging that complainant was improperly removed from the bench. The public is familiar with the case. Judge Blackstone was removed for reasons set forth in the records of the general assembly, when he was charged with neglect of official duties, immorality and other offenses.

WOMAN KILLED AT CHURCH.

At the close of Sunday's services at the Methodist Church, at Oakfield, Wis., Grant Pool, aged thirty-five, shot and killed Mrs. E. H. Orvis as she was shaking hands with Rev. Sabin Maisey, pastor of the church, who was standing at the vestibule door. Pool had occupied a pew directly in front of Mrs. Orvis, and he followed her to the door. Mrs. Orvis fell into the arms of her husband. The minister asked the congregation to remain and offer a prayer for the dying woman. The communicants, however, were so startled that they fled from the church. The pastor remained and prayed over the body. Pool fled from the church. For some time Pool had been trying to win the affections of Miss Grace Orvis, aged twenty-five. The parents objected. Pool was arrested yesterday morning at a village, eight miles away and placed in jail at Fond du Lac.

"AMBERINE" CAN BE SOLD.

Commonwealth's Attorney James P. Reardon, of Winchester, has received an official analysis from the bureau of chemistry of the State Department of Agriculture at Richmond of the beverage called "Amberine" which is manufactured by the Robert Portner Brewing Company, of this city. Mr. Reardon was supplied with six bottles by the Portner company's agent and requested that it be subjected to a critical test. The Amberine was sent to Richmond and Mr. Reardon has been officially informed that it contains only one and forty-five hundredths per cent. of alcohol and that the sale will not be prohibited by the Byrd law. The first case under the "malt beverage" clause of the Byrd liquor law was tried yesterday before Judge J. B. T. Thornton, in the Circuit Court of Prince William county. Wade Goodwin, representing the Robert Portner Brewing Company, at Manassas, was convicted before the mayor of violating the local option law by selling "Amberine." The case occupied the attention of the court most of the day and Judge Thornton reserved his decision for a few days. Those who heard the evidence say it was all favorable to "Amberine."

SHAKESPEARE CLASS.

The Shakespeare Class of Arlington Institute last night presented before their invited guests several scenes from Shakespeare's "As You Like It." The play was acted out of doors, beginning at half-past seven. The carefully planned and executed costumes and the simple and tasteful "stage-setting" made the whole very effective. The treatment of the parts was a credit both to the girls and their teacher. Rosalind was quite feminine enough; Jaques was sufficiently melancholy, and Orlando was patently lovelorn. Aliena and Touchstone also deserve credit for their able support. The cast was as follows: Orlando, Miss Julia Cone; Rosalind, Miss Alice Graham; Touchstone and Duke Senior, Miss Beatrix Baldwin; Celia, Miss Nannie Slaughter; Jaques and Oliver, Miss Harriet Pollard. Scene—The Forest of Arden.

MEETING IN LEESBURG.

A large crowd assembled in the courthouse at Leesburg last night when Hon. C. C. Carlin, Representative in Congress from this district, spoke. Mr Carlin was warmly greeted by the audience. He was introduced by Rev. F. P. Berkley, pastor of the Baptist Church at Leesburg. Dr. Berkley is a former Alexandrian, son of the late W. N. Berkley. His enrollment of Mr. Carlin was well received. Mr. Carlin made a spirited speech and was vociferously applauded. Among those in the audience were Dr. Heaton and Mr. Mason Throckmorton, who have made speeches against Mr. Carlin. Mr. R. C. L. Moncure, who is accompanying Mr. Carlin in his itinerary, was also present. Mr. Carlin spoke at Marshall today and he will speak at Rectortown tomorrow.

WILL ENFORCE THE LAW.

The parties arrested yesterday charged with violating the Sunday laws were tried in the Police Court under city warrants. The minimum fine of $2 was assessed, but the defendants noted appeals from the decision of the Police Court. It will be well to state for the benefit of all interested that the State law concerning the observance of Sunday prescribes a more severe penalty for such as wilfully set at defiance the statute. Section 3799 provides for a fine of not less than $5, and $50 or more could be imposed. Apart from this, offenders could be placed under bond from $100 to $5,000 as security for their observance of the statute. It has been determined to dispose of such cases in future under the State law.

EVE WAS A NEGRESS.

Rev. C. F. Choolgill, B. S. M. A., graduate of King's College, Oxford; Trinity College, University of Berlin, special ecclesiastical envoy of King Menelik of Abyssinia, and descendant of a line of ecclesiastical priests of Abyssinia 3,500 years old, is spending a few days in Philadelphia. He is telling the blacks of that city, among other things, that Eve was a negress, that Moses was a negro, that Solomon was a negro and that Homer was a negro. He bases his assertion that Moses was a negro on a biblical story to the effect that God told Moses to put his hand in his bosom, and that when Moses drew the hand out it was white; therefore he must have been black. He says that Solomon's mother was a Cushite, and that the Abyssinians are the only Cushites of the world.

DEED OF A DRUNKEN MAN.

Scolded by his wife for returning home drunk yesterday morning, and told that he was of no use to the family, Alexander Rebrack, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., in a fit of spitefulness, tried to destroy his money-earning power by cutting off the fingers of his right hand in order to show what a loss he would really be to the family. Before his wife could prevent him, he had seized a sharp carving knife and slashed his fingers so severely that two of them hung by strips of flesh, and may have to be amputated. The others are badly slashed, but can be saved.

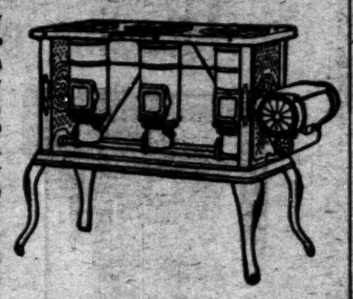
Put This Stove in Your Kitchen



It is wonderfully convenient to do kitchen work on a stove that's ready at the instant wanted, and out of the way the moment you're done. Such a stove is the New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove. By using it you avoid the continuous overpowering heat of a coal fire and cook with comfort, even in dog-days. The

NEW PERFECTION

is so constructed that it cannot add perceptibly to the heat of a room; the flame being directed up a retaining chimney to the stove top where it is needed for cooking. You can see that a stove sending out heat in but one direction would be preferable on a hot day to a stove radiating heat in all directions. The "New Perfection" keeps a kitchen uniformly comfortable. Three sizes, fully warranted. If not with your dealer, write our nearest agency.

Majority and Plurality.

In politics the plurality is the greatest of more than two numbers and is also the excess of the highest number of votes cast for any one candidate over the next highest number. When a candidate receives out of 10,000 votes cast 4,000 and two other candidates receive respectively 3,500 and 2,500, the first is elected by a plurality, though he has received less than a majority of the whole vote, and he is said to have a plurality of 500 votes. If the numbers are 6,000, 3,000 and 1,000, the majority is 2,000 and the plurality is 3,000. A majority, therefore, must be more than half the entire vote cast, and a candidate's majority is, then, the difference between the number of votes he received and the combined number of votes cast for all other candidates; his plurality is the difference between his own number and the number received by the candidate nearest to him. Oftentimes a candidate receives a plurality, but not a majority. Unless there is a tie there is always a plurality. — Pathfinder.

Why Sailors Don't Swim.

"You think it's strange, do you," said the sailor, "that us shellbacks can hardly ever swim?"

"Strange and almost criminal," replied the druggist firmly. "Sailors who can't swim—I don't understand it at all."

The sailor frowned.

"Supposin'," he said, "on a cold, black night you found yourself in the sea, not a spar left of the wreck, every shipmate drowned, nothin' anywhere but the cold, the blackness, the bitter water. In them conditions," he said, "what would you ruther do—swim and swim and swim in agony till you died or sink right down and die at wunst?"

"I think I'd rather die at once," said the druggist, shuddering.

"So sailors think," said the other, "and it's to spare themselves possible long hours of agony that they like not to learn to swim. And they encourage their sons not to learn, too, if there's any likelihood of the lads follerin' the sea."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The Moral of Playing Cards.

Playing cards have had their moral side, it may surprise you to know. At the Blenheim club in London, lecturing on the subject of playing cards from the point of view of the collector, Mr. Alfred Whitman said that the most valuable packs were those that taught Biblical history or inculcated moral lessons. In Italy in the eighteenth century it was customary to issue packs of cards with Old Testament scenes engraved upon them. In Germany of the same period playing cards with fables to which morals were attached were customary. French playing cards of the time of Louis XIV. were used to teach geography and history, while in the England of Elizabeth and the Stuarts playing cards were used as political pamphlets. Most valuable were cards issued in France at the time of the French revolution, when figures of Genius, Liberty and Equality took the place of kings, queens and knaves.—London Saturday Review.

He Has Two Signatures.

There is one New York business man who is reasonably proof against the forger, as he has two signatures and the forger must first get hold of one of his bank checks to get any action. Seeing the signature on a letter or hotel register would do the forger no good. The bank would not recognize it. "I don't particularly fear the forger," the business man admitted "but my two signatures make me feel safer just the same. I am surprised that everybody doesn't hit on the same plan. It's very easy after you get the knack of signing your name two separate and distinct ways."—New York Globe.

Hard to Do Without Pockets.

"The most annoying thing in navy life for a recruit is the absence of side pockets in the uniform trousers," said a yeoman at the navy recruiting station. "The average man doesn't realize how strong is the custom of thrusting his hands in his trousers pockets until he dons a pair without pockets. I've worn the navy uniform four years now, and I frequently find myself trying to put my hands in my pockets."—Kansas City Times.

The Points Were There.

Little Clara's parents often discuss reincarnation, and the small maiden has acquired some of the phraseology.

"Mamma," she said one day, "my kittie must have been a paper of pins in a previous state of existence."

"Why do you think so?" asked her mother.

"Because I can feel some of them in her toes yet," was the logical reply.

An Iron Tip.

The Poor Hungry Fish.

"Here is an interesting thing that happened last summer to a friend and myself," said a New Yorker. "We had gone on a fishing trip in a rowboat, but it seemed that either all the fish were at another place or were not hungry. We decided if those fish were not hungry we were. We had taken our luncheon, as wise fishermen will, and in order to keep the bread as fresh as possible had left it in loaf form. My friend asked me to pass it to him, and in doing so the loaf of bread went overboard. We made out the best we could without the bread and later rowed to another place to fish. On our way back we passed the place where we lost our bread. Then we saw the sight of our lives. On each side of the loaf of bread stood a big fish, and for as far as we could see there was a great line of small fish. We wondered what it was, and then the thought dawned on us—those fish had formed a "bread line" and the two large fish were dealing out the bread. After that we didn't have the heart to try to catch any of those poor, hungry fish."

A Bride With Some Good Points.

Some years ago in an agricultural district in England there lived a farmer who wanted to sell one of his cows. There was not at that time a weekly paper in which he could advertise, so he resolved to follow a local custom and ask the vicar of the parish when giving out his notices at church to advertise the cow.

"Yes, farmer," said the vicar, "I should be willing to oblige you, but you don't attend my church."

Presently, however, they struck a bargain that the vicar should advertise the cow, and the man in return promised to go to church. Now, unfortunately the man was deaf, and on the Sunday following when the vicar gave out the banns of marriage between Joseph So-and-so, bachelor, and Sarah So-and-so, spinster, the farmer took it for granted that the vicar was giving out particulars of his cow and shouted out:

"You might as well say while you are about it that she is a most gentle creature and entirely free from vice."—Stray Stories.

Where Red Hair Is Disliked.

In Cornwall, particularly the Land's End district, it is not advisable to dub a person "a red haired Dane," though in most parts of England, especially inland, the expression would as likely as not provoke no comment at all or be regarded as simply frivolous.

At a police court case heard in 1867 at Penzance town hall it came out in evidence that the defendant had called the complainant "a red haired Dane," and this led to an assault. The strong repugnance of Cornishmen to be dubbed by this strange appellation is as strong as ever.

The Celtic nations hated the Danes and were always fighting them. And not only in Cornwall, but also all along our coasts, where the Danes or Norsemen made their ravages, this deep rooted prejudice against people with red hair, "red headed," more or less remains ingrained in the national character.—J. Harris Stone in "The English Illustrated."

Meat Versus Song.

The great tenor's lunch consisted of a cheese omelet, asparagus, fruit and an ice.

"No meat?" said the reporter.

"As little meat as possible," the tenor replied. "Meat kills song. The nightingale, the thrush and lark are grain eaters, and their song is sweet. The carnivorous birds, the crow, etc., only croak. And in countries that go in for excessive meat eating—England, for instance—there are few good voices, while in the more vegetarian countries, such as Italy, fine singers abound. Song birds are vegetarian," he concluded. "Carnivorous birds croak."—New York Press.

Where Water Means Life.

As illustrating the scarcity of water in some parts of Australia and the high value set upon it, I would draw attention to the case of three Afghans who were murdered in West Australia. Water was scarce, and yet these three orientals washed themselves in a road hole—the sole source of supply—adjoining a selector's homestead. In a fury he shot the three of them, and at his subsequent trial the jury unanimously acquitted him.—Wide World Magazine.

His Great Fault.

"Yes," said the would be author, "I've taken a house in the country, but it will be necessary for me to engage a gardener. There's quite a plot of ground around the house; too much for me to handle."

"Yes," replied Crittick, "you never could handle a plot, could you?"—Catholic Standard and Times.
